OFFER OF EMPLOYMENT — CONTENT STRATEGIST

Dear Samiat,

Following our review of your application and the discussions that followed, we are pleased to offer you employment with Folub & Samuel Labs Limited (“FSLabs” or “the Company”) in the position of Content Strategist, on the terms set out in this letter.

Your record made the decision straightforward. Growing an audience from 137 to 14,700 followers and from four views to over 1.1 million views inside sixty days is not luck — it is strategy, executed consistently. Building a content function from scratch at Carebrij, driving over 300 waitlist sign-ups from content alone, and holding an editorial voice steady across LinkedIn, Instagram, and Substack tells us you can do the harder thing: turn complicated ideas into something people actually want to read. We build technology and cybersecurity products, and our biggest gap is not engineering — it is being understood. That is the gap we want you to close.

1. POSITION AND TERMS OF ENGAGEMENT

POSITION	Content Strategist
FUNCTION	Media & Communications
REPORTS TO	Adeseko Samuel — Co-Founder & Chief Technology Officer, who also holds the Head of Media function
EMPLOYMENT TYPE	Full-time
WORK ARRANGEMENT	Fully remote, within Nigeria. Occasional in-person sessions may be convened with reasonable notice.
COMMENCEMENT DATE	3 August 2026
PROBATIONARY PERIOD	Three (3) months from the commencement date, subject to confirmation in writing on satisfactory review
REMUNERATION	As mutually agreed between you and the Company, and recorded in a separate written remuneration schedule which, once signed by both parties, forms an integral part of this offer. Payment is monthly, in arrears, subject to statutory deductions.
WORKING HOURS	Monday to Friday, with core availability between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. (WAT). We care about output and responsiveness, not clocked hours.

LEAVE	Paid annual leave in accordance with the Company's leave policy, and in no event less than the minimum prescribed by the Labour Act, accruing from the date of confirmation
TOOLS & EQUIPMENT	The Company provides the accounts, software licences, and working tools reasonably required for the role

2. PURPOSE OF THE ROLE

The Content Strategist owns how FSLabs sounds and what FSLabs publishes. You will set the editorial direction across the Company's brands and products — including the FSLabs corporate brand, FS Exchange, FSLabs Training, and FOLUB Builders — and translate technical work in software engineering and cybersecurity into clear, credible, audience-first content that earns attention, builds trust, and brings in qualified enquiries. You are not a posting assistant. You are the person who decides what story we are telling, to whom, on which platform, and why it will work.

3. KEY RESPONSIBILITIES AND JOB ROLES

3.1 CONTENT STRATEGY AND PLANNING

- Own and maintain the Company's content strategy across all brands, products, and channels, reviewed quarterly against business objectives.
- Define target audiences and content pillars for each brand, and document the reasoning so the strategy survives handover.
- Build and run monthly content calendars covering topics, formats, channels, publishing cadence, and ownership.
- Run periodic content audits, retire what underperforms, and reallocate effort toward what demonstrably works.
- Advise leadership on positioning, messaging, and launch sequencing for new products, features, and services.

3.2 WRITING AND EDITORIAL

- Research, write, and edit long-form and short-form content: articles, explainers, case studies, thought-leadership pieces, newsletters, landing-page copy, product copy, scripts, and campaign copy.
- Translate technical subject matter — security incidents, engineering decisions, product mechanics — into accessible narrative without diluting accuracy.
- Interview internal engineers, security staff, and clients to source original material rather than recycling generic industry commentary.
- Fact-check every published claim, and verify all technical statements with the Chief Technology Officer before release.
- Serve as final editorial gate on tone, clarity, grammar, and house style for anything published under a Company brand.

3.3 BRAND VOICE AND STORYTELLING

- Author and maintain the FSLabs brand voice and editorial style guide, including per-brand variations.
- Develop the founder and company narrative into a consistent, recognisable public voice across platforms.

- Build storytelling assets around client outcomes, project milestones, and behind-the-scenes engineering work, subject to client consent and the confidentiality obligations in this letter.
- Protect brand consistency by reviewing outbound material produced by other functions before publication.

3.4 SOCIAL MEDIA AND COMMUNITY GROWTH

- Plan, produce, schedule, and publish content across the Company's social platforms, currently LinkedIn, Instagram, X, and TikTok.
- Set and defend a consistent publishing cadence, and hold it through quiet periods as well as launch periods.
- Grow reach, engagement, and qualified follower base through deliberate, tested content formats rather than volume alone.
- Manage community interaction — comments, mentions, and direct enquiries — escalating commercial leads to the Business Lead and security-sensitive enquiries to the Chief Technology Officer.
- Monitor platform, industry, and cultural trends, and judge which are worth acting on for a technology and cybersecurity firm.

3.5 SEO AND ORGANIC DISCOVERABILITY

- Conduct keyword and search-intent research for the Company's websites and product pages.
- Structure and optimise on-page content — titles, meta descriptions, headings, internal linking — to improve organic visibility.
- Maintain a rolling SEO content roadmap targeting the queries our prospective clients actually search.
- Work with the technical team on content-adjacent SEO matters, including page structure, performance, and metadata.

3.6 CAMPAIGN AND COMMERCIAL SUPPORT

- Develop content-led campaigns tied to defined business outcomes: enquiries, waitlist sign-ups, training enrolments, and platform registrations.
- Write and maintain email and newsletter sequences for onboarding, nurture, and announcement flows.
- Produce supporting content for sales and partnership conversations, including one-pagers, decks, and brochure copy.
- Support the FSLabs Training and FS Exchange product lines with launch, enrolment, and retention content.

3.7 MEASUREMENT AND REPORTING

- Define the content metrics that matter for each brand and channel, and set baselines in the first month.
- Track performance and report monthly to the Chief Technology Officer with findings and a clear recommendation, not raw numbers alone.
- Run structured tests on formats, hooks, and cadence, and fold the results back into strategy.

3.8 COLLABORATION AND GOVERNANCE

- Work closely with engineering, security, design, and business functions to source accurate material and align messaging.
- Brief and review the work of freelancers, designers, or interns engaged to support content production.

- Comply with the Company's information-security and acceptable-use policies in all content work, and treat client and system information as confidential by default.
- Maintain organised, accessible content records so that calendars, assets, and performance history remain Company property and are not lost to personal accounts.

4. DELIVERABLES IN THE FIRST NINETY DAYS

So that expectations are unambiguous from the outset, the following are the agreed early deliverables. They form the basis of the probationary review.

BY DAY 30	Content audit of all existing Company channels; documented brand voice and editorial style guide; agreed metric baselines per channel.
BY DAY 60	A live, running content calendar across all active brands; consistent publishing cadence established; first monthly performance report delivered.
BY DAY 90	At least one content-led campaign executed end to end with measured results; twelve-month content strategy document presented to leadership; growth targets for the following quarter agreed with the Chief Technology Officer.

5. GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS

- 1. Probation and confirmation. Your appointment is subject to a three (3) month probationary period. During probation, either party may terminate the engagement by giving one (1) week's written notice. On satisfactory completion, your appointment will be confirmed in writing.
- 2. Notice period. Following confirmation, either party may terminate this employment by giving one (1) month's written notice, or payment of salary in lieu of notice. Nothing in this clause limits the Company's right to summary dismissal for gross misconduct.
- 3. Confidentiality. You will have access to non-public information concerning the Company, its clients, its systems, and its security posture. You agree to keep all such information strictly confidential, during and after your employment, and to publish nothing relating to clients, systems, incidents, or internal operations without prior written approval. You will be required to execute the Company's standard non-disclosure agreement on or before your commencement date.
- 4. Intellectual property. All content, copy, strategy documents, calendars, and other materials created by you in the course of your employment, and all intellectual property rights in them, vest in and belong exclusively to the Company. You retain the right to reference your work in a professional portfolio, subject to the confidentiality obligations above and to prior written approval of the specific items shown.
- 5. Outside engagements. The Company acknowledges your existing personal brand and independent writing, including Diary of A GenZ and The Abdulahi Samiat Brand, together with your volunteer commitments. You may continue these, provided they are disclosed in writing, do not compete with the Company, do not use Company confidential information or resources, and do not interfere with your duties here. Any new paid engagement in a related field requires prior written consent, which will not be unreasonably withheld.

- 6. Information security. As a cybersecurity firm, we hold ourselves to our own standards. You agree to comply with the Company's information-security, device, and acceptable-use policies, including multi-factor authentication on all Company accounts and use of approved tools for Company work.
- 7. Conduct and policies. Your employment is governed by this letter and by the Company's employee handbook and policies as issued and amended from time to time.
- 8. Documentation. This offer is conditional upon your presenting, on or before your commencement date, a valid means of identification, evidence of your stated qualifications, and the contact details of two referees.
- 9. Studies. The Company notes that you are concurrently pursuing a Bachelor of Nursing Science at Fountain University, Osogbo. The remote arrangement is intended to accommodate this. You agree to give reasonable advance notice of examination periods so that publishing schedules can be planned around them.
- 10. Governing law. This offer and any resulting contract of employment are governed by the laws of the Federal Republic of Nigeria, including the Labour Act.
- 11. Entire agreement. This letter, together with the signed remuneration schedule referred to in Clause 1, constitutes the entire agreement between the parties on the subject of your employment and supersedes all prior discussions and representations.

Acceptance. Kindly confirm your acceptance by signing and returning a copy of this letter, together with the signed remuneration schedule, on or before 10 August 2026. Should we not hear from you by that date, this offer lapses without further notice. Please direct any question on these terms to the undersigned before signing — we would rather resolve it now than later.

Samiat, we are glad to be making this offer. We think you will do the best work of your career here, and we intend to give you the room to do it. Welcome to FSLabs.

Yours sincerely,

Adeseke Samuel

CO-FOUNDER & CHIEF TECHNOLOGY OFFICER
HEAD OF MEDIA & COMMUNICATIONS
FOR AND ON BEHALF OF FOLUB & SAMUEL LABS LIMITED
