

REF: FSL/HR/2026/0803/CS

3 AUGUST 2026

Abdulahi Samiat Oyinkansola

workwithsamiat@gmail.com · 0701 406 4725

Delivered by email

OFFER OF EMPLOYMENT: CONTENT STRATEGIST

Dear Samiat,

After reviewing your application and talking it through with you, we are pleased to offer you employment with Folub & Samuel Labs Limited ("FSLabs" or "the Company") as our Content Strategist, on the terms set out below.

Your record made the decision easy. Growing an audience from 137 to 14,700 followers in sixty days, and going from four views to over 1.1 million in the same window, is not luck. That is strategy, held steady week after week. Building a content function from nothing at Carebrij tells us you can also do the harder thing, which is taking a complicated idea and turning it into something people actually want to read. We build technology and security products. Our problem has never been the engineering. It is that too few people understand what we have built. That is the problem we want you to solve.

1. POSITION AND TERMS OF ENGAGEMENT

POSITION	Content Strategist
FUNCTION	Media & Communications
REPORTS TO	Adeseko Samuel, Cofounder and Chief Technology Officer, who also holds the Head of Media function
EMPLOYMENT TYPE	Full time
WORK ARRANGEMENT	Fully remote, within Nigeria. We may occasionally ask you to attend a session in person, with reasonable notice.
COMMENCEMENT DATE	3 August 2026
WORKING HOURS	Monday to Friday, with core availability between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. (WAT). What we care about is your output and how reachable you are, not hours clocked.
LEAVE	Paid annual leave under the Company's leave policy, and never less than the minimum the Labour Act prescribes
TOOLS & EQUIPMENT	The Company provides the accounts, software licences, and working tools the role reasonably needs

2. PURPOSE OF THE ROLE

The Content Strategist owns how FSLabs sounds and what FSLabs publishes. You will set the editorial direction for all of our brands and products, which today means the FSLabs corporate brand, FS Exchange, and FSLabs Training. Your job is to take our work in software engineering and security and turn it into writing that is clear, credible, built for the reader, and good enough to bring in real enquiries. You are not here to post on a schedule someone else set. You are the person who decides what story we tell, who we tell it to, and why it will land.

3. KEY RESPONSIBILITIES AND JOB ROLES

3.1 CONTENT STRATEGY AND PLANNING

- Own the Company's content strategy across every brand, product, and channel, and review it each quarter against what the business is trying to achieve.
- Decide who each brand is talking to and what it talks about, then build and run the monthly content calendar.
- Audit the content regularly. Retire whatever is not working and move that effort to what is.
- Advise leadership on positioning, messaging, and the order in which we launch new products and services.

3.2 WRITING, EDITORIAL, AND BRAND VOICE

- Research, write, and edit across every format we use: articles, explainers, case studies, newsletters, copy for landing pages and products, scripts, and campaign copy.
- Take technical material, whether a security incident, an engineering decision, or how a product actually works, and turn it into writing anyone can follow without losing accuracy.
- Interview our engineers, our security staff, and our clients so the work draws on original material rather than recycled industry talk. Check every claim you publish, and clear technical statements with the Chief Technology Officer before release.
- Write and maintain the FSLabs brand voice and style guide, and act as the last set of eyes on anything that goes out under a Company brand.

3.3 SOCIAL MEDIA AND COMMUNITY GROWTH

- Plan, produce, schedule, and publish across our social platforms, currently LinkedIn, Instagram, X, and TikTok, holding a steady rhythm through the quiet stretches as well as the launches.
- Grow reach, engagement, and a following worth having, through formats you have tested rather than sheer volume.
- Handle community interaction, passing commercial leads to the Business Lead and anything security sensitive to the Chief Technology Officer.

3.4 SEO AND ORGANIC DISCOVERABILITY

- Research the keywords and the questions our prospective clients actually type, and keep a rolling roadmap of content that answers them.
- Improve what sits on each page, including titles, meta descriptions, headings, and internal links, working with the technical team on page structure and metadata.

3.5 CAMPAIGNS AND COMMERCIAL SUPPORT

- Build campaigns around content and tie them to outcomes we can count: enquiries, waitlist signups, training enrolments, and platform registrations.
- Write and maintain the email and newsletter sequences for onboarding, nurture, and announcements.
- Support FSLabs Training and FS Exchange, and write the material our sales and partnership conversations need.

3.6 MEASUREMENT, COLLABORATION, AND GOVERNANCE

- Decide which numbers matter for each brand and channel, set the baselines in your first month, and report to the Chief Technology Officer every month with a recommendation attached, not just the figures.
- Test formats, hooks, and timing properly, and feed what you learn back into the strategy.
- Work with engineering, security, design, and the business side to get your facts right and keep the messaging aligned. Brief any freelancer we bring in to help.
- Treat client and system information as confidential unless told otherwise, and keep the content records tidy and accessible, since they belong to the Company.

4. DELIVERABLES IN THE FIRST NINETY DAYS

BY DAY 30	An audit of every Company channel, a written brand voice and style guide, and agreed baselines for the numbers on each channel.
BY DAY 60	A content calendar live and running across all active brands, a publishing rhythm we can rely on, and your first monthly performance report delivered.
BY DAY 90	One campaign built on content, run start to finish, with results we can measure. A content strategy for the year ahead, presented to leadership. Growth targets for the next quarter, agreed with the Chief Technology Officer.

5. GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS

- 1. Notice. Either party may end this employment on one (1) month's written notice, or payment in lieu of it. Nothing here limits the Company's right to dismiss summarily for gross misconduct.
- 2. Confidentiality. You will see information about the Company, its clients, its systems, and its security that is not public. You agree to keep all of it strictly confidential, both during your employment and after it ends, and to publish nothing about our clients, systems, incidents, or internal operations without written approval first. You will sign the Company's standard nondisclosure agreement on or before your start date.
- 3. Intellectual property. Everything you create in the course of your employment, including content, copy, strategy documents, and calendars, belongs to the Company, along with the intellectual property rights in it. You may still point to your work in a professional portfolio, provided you honour the confidentiality obligations above and get written approval for the specific items you want to show.
- 4. Outside engagements. We know about your own brand and your independent writing, including Diary of A GenZ and The Abdulahi Samiat Brand, as well as your volunteer commitments. Carry on with them. All we ask is that you tell us in writing what they are, that they do not compete with us, that they use none of our confidential information or resources, and that they do not get in the way of your work here. Any new paid engagement in a related field needs our written consent first, and we will not withhold that unreasonably.

- 5. Policies and information security. This letter governs your employment, along with the Company handbook and whatever policies we issue from time to time. We are a security firm, so we hold ourselves to our own standard. You agree to follow our policies on information security, devices, and acceptable use, including two step verification on every Company account.
- 6. Documentation. This offer depends on you providing, on or before your start date, valid identification, evidence of the qualifications you have stated, and the details of two referees.
- 7. Studies. We know you are also reading for a Bachelor of Nursing Science at Fountain University, Osogbo, and the remote arrangement is meant to accommodate that. Just give us reasonable notice of your examination periods so we can plan the publishing schedule around them.
- 8. Governing law. This offer, and any contract of employment that follows from it, is governed by the laws of the Federal Republic of Nigeria, including the Labour Act.
- 9. Entire agreement. This letter is the whole of what we have agreed about your employment, and it replaces everything discussed or represented before it.

Acceptance. Please confirm by signing and returning a copy of this letter on or before 10 August 2026. If we do not hear from you by then, the offer lapses without further notice. If anything in here reads wrong to you, raise it with me before you sign.

Samiat, we are glad to be making this offer, and we intend to give you the room to do your best work here.

Yours sincerely,

Adeseko Samuel

Adeseko Samuel

COFOUNDER AND CHIEF TECHNOLOGY OFFICER
HEAD OF MEDIA & COMMUNICATIONS
FOR AND ON BEHALF OF FOLUB & SAMUEL LABS LIMITED

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT AND ACCEPTANCE

I, Abdulahi Samiat Oyinkansola, have read and understood the terms set out in this letter, and I accept employment with Folub & Samuel Labs Limited as Content Strategist on those terms.

Abdulahi Samiat Oyinkansola

SIGNATURE

DATE